Shuttle Begins On Six Weeks Basis

The North Putnam School Board met Thursday in regular session with a small audience in attendance.

The Board approved a few additional appropriations which really just amounted to shifting appropriations from one fund to another.

Supt. Frazee noted that the tax hearing is set for 1 p.m. October 9.

The bus shuttle service was discussed and it was decided to begin service on a six-week trial basis beginning October 15. There will be a meeting with the administrators during the next week to set up a time schedule. The service will be available basically to students in the Russellville area. This is the only area that has turned in a petition so far.

Norman Evans, guidance counselor, presented the summary of the survey on vocational-technical education which was made during the last school year in the eight counties of west central Indiana. A full report on this survey will be made during the next week in this paper. There was much discussion on this topic.

Frazee announced that the National Math Convention would be held the next day and he would be attending alone with some of the math teachers.

The Board approved a notice of intention to recognize the North Putnam Classroom Teachers Association as the sole representative for bargaining. There were certain exceptions spelled out under the definition of supervisors. These included certain certificated employees such as the superintendent and principals.

The Board approved the claims which were presented.

A discussion was held on the subject of fuel oil. Frazee explained that the supplier for the corporation's fuel oil two years ago said that he does not intend to comply with the government's regulations. The supplier for last year said that it is the responsibility of the supplier of two year's ago. Consequently, Frazee is waiting, if impatiently, for some action to be taken by the government.

It was noted that enrollment figures for the present school year show a decrease of 1.3 percent from last year's figures. As of Sept. 14, the total enrollment for the North Putnam School Corporation was 1768 students. This includes grades kindergarten through twelve and those in special education classes.

Frazee noted that he was surprised about the decrease; he said he had anticipated an increase over last year. He noted that the change was probably due to more people migrating out of the area in to other school corporations.

It was reported that the bleachers which collapsed at the high school last week have been destroyed and the wood salvaged. The Board approved the request to purchase new bleachers to replace them. The purchase may have to wait for prices to come down, noted Frazee.

The corporation has received their Title I approval. There will be immediate employment of two teachers aids for the remedial reading and math programs in the elementary schools.

The Indiana School Board Association will meet for round number two on October 18 at Shakamak High School. The school board members and administrators will be attending.

COUNTY SCHOOLS INCLUDED

Survey Results Told

Results are now being released from the West Central Indiana Vocational-Technical Education Survey which was made during the 1972-73 school year. The survey, which was commissioned by 17 school corporations in the eight counties of west central Indiana, was funded by the Indiana State Department of Vocational Education.

All four Putnam County high schools were involved in the survey. Other counties and schools which participated were Lebanon Community School Corporation and Western Boone County Community School District of Boone County; the Clay Community Schools from Clay County; and Attica Consolidated School Corporation, Covington Community School Corporation and Southeast Fountain School Corporation from Fountain County.

Also Crawfordsville Community Schools, North Montgomery Community School Corporation, and South Montgomery Community School Corporation from Montgomery County; Rockville Consolidated Schools and Turkey Run Consolidated School District from Parke County; South Vermillion Community School Corporation from Vermillion County and MSD of Warren County.

This study was designed to provide the schools information for decision making regarding vocational-technical education. Sources of information for the study were varied and included the school corporation's records, state agencies, a survey of secondary teachers, and surveys of a sampling of high school students, the parent community, Chamber of Commerce representatives, and the Class of 1965 graduates.

The information from the surveys is self-report data, according to the general summary of the survey. "Such information may be offered from an incomplete or 'false factual base' but it is important because it represents the base from which people operate and make decisions in their day-to-day living."

The summary prepared by Fred B. Gannon noted that "the comments offered in the report represent trends and generalizations. The results for specific corporations will be at variance with these trends and generalizations on some points."

The summary pointed out two important facts about the population of these eight counties which should be kept in mind. "The population density per square mile in these counties is considerable below the average density for the state. The population characteristics of these counties also tend to be atypical of the state as a whole in several other areas."

"For example, the population of these counties tends to be older than the total population of the state and the proportion of the population living in urban areas as well as the growth rates for urban areas are both considerably lower for the participating counties than the state average."

One basic reason pointing to the need for better vocational-technical education is cited in the summary: "The unemployment rates for the eight counties ranged from a low of three percent to a high of ten percent and approximately one-third of the total work force commutes outside of its county of residence for its employment."

"An inspection of the commuting patterns reveals a great deal of interdependence of the counties on each other for their work forces. This circumstance coupled with the stated intent of students to stay in the area and with the fact that a sizable number of the 1965 graduates are still in the area, appears to argue that there are benefits to be derived for all the counties to work together on vocational-technical education programs."

City Fire Dept. Sets Slogan Contest

The Greencastle Fire Department will be conducting their fifth annual Fire Prevention Slogan Contest during the week of October 8-12, according to Lt. Gene Floyd, Fire Prevention Officer.

Floyd said there are actually two separate contests, one for Greencastle students in grades one through six and the other for junior high school students. The winners in each area will be awarded a $25 savings bond.

The contest will begin Monday morning and all entries must be turned in by 4:30 p.m. Friday. Students should turn their slogans in to their classroom teachers and the entries from each school will be turned in to the fire department.

Entries will be judged by a committee made up of Fire Chief Lester Haltom Lt. Floyd, and the other firemen. "Only the slogans will be read by the judges," said Floyd; "we won't know who wrote them until after the winning slogans have been selected."

Winners of the savings bonds will be notified by the fire department sometime during the week of October 15-19, said Floyd. The 1st Citizens Bank and Trust and Central National Bank are each donating one $25 bond for the prizes.

DPU Board Taps Wood

Eli Lilly and Company board chairman and chief executive officer Richard D. Wood yesterday (Friday) was elected chairman of the board of trustees of DePauw University.

At the same time the DePauw trustees elected into their membership the youngest trustee on record, 22 year-old Bradley A. Hasten of Evansville. Hasten, now in law school, was graduated from DePauw in May with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Wood, 45, an alumnus of DePauw, succeeds J. Kurt Mahrdt of Indianapolis. Mahrdt, who retired as chairman of the board of The Indiana National Bank in Indianapolis in 1971, has been DePauw's board chairman since 1968, but is retiring from that responsibility this year.

Officers elected to serve with Wood on the DePauw board are vice-chairmen Fred C. Tucker, Jr., chief executive officer of F.C. Tucker Realtors and Developers in Indianapolis, and J. Stanford Smith, Greenwich, Conn., vice chairman of International Paper Company, Indianapolis attorney Robert D. Morgan was elected secretary.

Announcement of the board's election was made by DePauw President Dr. William E. Kerstetter.

In further action the board reviewed plans for a $69 million development program and voted to continue the existing University rule that prohibits the possession or use of alcoholic beverages on the campus.

Plans proposed by Kerstetter and approved by the board call for a second ten-year development program that will raise the University's endowment from $34 million to $67 million, raise $30 million for enrichment of the annual budget for scholarships and faculty compensation, $2.5 million for expanded and improved athletic and recreational facilities, and $3.5 million for renovation of 10-12 existing structures.

DePauw recently completed a $33,000,000 development program to build a $7.5 million Science and Mathematics Center, opened in 1972, and a $7.6 million Performing Arts Center, started this past spring. The balance was assigned to endowment.

The action on alcoholic beverages was taken after student representatives submitted a proposal to permit their use in the private living quarters of students 21 years of age.

In a statement on the subject the Board said its decision was based on its purpose to maintain a campus environment consistent with state law and the educational process.

"The Board's consideration, contrary to some statements in the past, is in no way based upon the old cliché of 'in loco parents' or on any concept of parietal rules. The Board's determination is based upon what it considers University responsibility in the setting of the present Indiana laws to avoid fostering, even by implication, circumstances that would subject students to statutory violations or civil liability."

Hasten's election to the board inaugurated a new policy by the trustees to bring to their membership the views of a recent undergraduate. Hasten was nominated by students as a senior last spring for membership consideration by the Board's regular nominating committee. His nomination was

Dear Editor:

Several years ago, much effort was made by the people in the Bainbridge area to gain toll-free service with Greencastle. We expected this to include the Morton area since all numbers were listed among Greencastle numbers in the phone book and toll was handled through Greencastle for the entire area. Last winter, we were all pretty disappointed because we have expected free service with Morton as with Greencastle. I have been in correspondence with the Public Service Commission and received (a) letter from the Hendricks Telephone Corp. They seem ready to give us service with Morton if only General Telephone would agree.

(A) map shows the North Putnam School District all of which can call any school or the high school in the North Putnam school area, either through the Fillmore, Bainbridge, Roachdale, exchanges of the Hendricks Phone Corp. the General Greencastle Exchange and the Waveland Bell Exchange. But Morton is still a toll call from home to school or from school to home. Mr. Norman Evans, Vice-Princ. at North Putnam H.S. must make a toll call to tell his wife if he will be late for supper.

Fire protection is furnished the area served by the Morton Exchange by the Bainbridge Community Fire Dept. A toll call is necessary to call for such help.

I do not know if the newspaper can be of help in this very unsatisfactory situation but I feel that several people should be working on the problem. I taught school at Bainbridge when we had toll calls from the school to almost half of the student homes. I have never had to call a fire dept. but I would be pretty unhappy to be held up as some have been on a toll call for such help.

Sincerely,
Albert E. Harshbarger

In Memoriam

In memory of Leland Brown who, left us 6 years ago on Oct. 7, one by one our loved ones leave us.

One by one they slip away,
Down the dark and lonely valley,
Which we too, must walk someday.

We may long for their return,

But our tears are all in vain,
For the family circle is broken,
Never on earth to meet again.

The North Central Visitation

In a previous column dealing with accreditation we pointed out that the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is the accrediting agency that serves a nineteen state area that includes Indiana. As we said at that time, a committee visits member schools every seven years to see that they meet North Central standards and, more importantly, to suggest ways in which the schools may better educate the students attending them. Since Greencastle High School will be visited by a North Central committee the 16th through the 19th of this month, we thought that it might be interesting to our readers to describe what is involved in such a visit and the preparation that goes into it.

A year ago preparations for this visitation began. The local high school faculty began a self-study which has just been completed. Using standardized forms provided by the North Central Association the faculty spent long hours studying every detail of the school and its curriculum and rated itself as to how well the local situation ranked according to sound pedagogical practice. The self-evaluation is very important and most beneficial to a school. Through self-examination and self-study areas for improvement become readily clear and improvement is much more easily accomplished if its need is self-realized and it is self-initiated.

Just at the beginning of the present school year a visiting committee of fifteen educators was appointed by the North Central state office. This particular committee will visit only Greencastle High School; the approximately forty other schools being visited this year will have their own individual committees. The committee is composed of public school superintendents and principals, high school classroom teachers, and college professors. Dr. Lee Stoner of Indiana University will chair the Greencastle committee. As we said, all the members are practicing educators; they are not employees of the North Central Association. They serve on this committee as a professional obligation without pay.

During the slightly less than one week that the committee is in the school its members will scrutinize every detail of the school. They will use the volumes of paper work prepared by the faculty in the self-evaluation of the past year as a point of reference for their work. The total committee will break down into subcommittees to evaluate various subject departments in the school as well as certain general areas such as the school building and grounds, the administration of the school, and the school's student activities program.

It should be pointed out at this point that this is in no way a white glove inspection to be dreaded or feared. The members of the committee enter the school as professionals seeking to make suggestions for improvement to a school that has already proven its quality by being admitted to membership in the North Central Association. The emphasis is on helping a great school maintain its greatness. The purpose of the visitation is not to determine if the school can maintain its accreditation.

When the committee leaves at the end of the week it has compiled a lengthy report. The chairman spends the next few months editing it and when he has completed this task he mails the report to the school. This volume of approximately 150 pages describes every facet of the school in detail, commends areas of strength, and recommends improvements as the committee sees them.

The school then enters the final phase of evaluation, the follow-up. The school reacts to the recommendations of the committee and reports to the Association as these are carried out or gives reasons why they are not desirable. This phase may last for several years.

When we began this column over a year ago we promised that it would not be used to give school news. However, we find the procedures that schools follow for a North Central visitation are interesting and important and feel that the general public should be aware of them. Membership in an accrediting association denotes quality. An evaluation by a team representative of that association, preceded by a self-evaluation, and succeeded by a serious follow-up study, assures that quality.

confirmed yesterday and he will serve a three-year term as a voting trustee. He will also serve on the Board's academic affairs committee.

The Rev. G. Ben Hershberger, Muncie, new trustee representing the South Indiana Conference of the United Methodist Church, was sworn in with Hasten.

Wood, the board's new chairman, was named to his present post with Eli Lilly and Company last April. He attended DePauw, earned a B.S. degree in engineering from Purdue University in 1948, and was granted an M.B.A. degree by the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce at the University of Pennsylvania.

He joined the pharmaceutical firm in 1950 and has since held various positions in the financial and marketing areas including international assignments in Argentina and Mexico. He was named president of Lilly International in 1970 and became president of the parent corporation early in 1972.

Mahrdt first joined DePauw's board of trustees in 1964. He was elected vice-president in 1965 and in 1968 succeeded Bernard Kilgore, chairman of the board of Dow, Jones & Company, as chairman.

"In all these offices, and especially as chairman, Kurt Mahrdt has served with high skill, great wisdom and deep devotion," Kerstetter told the board regarding retirement of the 1928 DePauw graduate.

grades four, eight and ten were provided an opportunity during the last school year to express their opinions on several facets of vocational-technical educational opportunities and tend to be a supportive of the concept of an area vocational-technical school.

"Their support, however, is not without two serious qualifications. Many parents indicated support for an area school but only if it were located in their district and a number of them expressed concern for the costs involved in establishing an area school."

The most common parental reasons stated for the encouraging children to enroll in vocational-technical education were the "relevance to living or the practical nature of such education." An assumption frequently stated even by parents who endorse this idea is that such programs are for the "slower" students and that it is remedial for what are perceived as the failures of traditional education.

This misunderstanding concerning the nature of vocational-technical education by a substantial part of the adult community could cause difficulties in recruiting the more able students into the programs even where those programs appear the most appropriate for the involved students. "Therefore," the summary states, "the community must be educated regarding the purposes, objectives, and nature of vocational-technical education."

Teachers of students in grades seven through twelve were asked to respond to a series of eleven statements concerning career development and vocational-technical education. The teachers acknowledged that "students need help with career planning and agreed that providing secondary career training opportunities is as important as providing post-secondary ones.

From 15.9 to 84.4 percent of those 1965 graduates who received questionnaires completed and returned them. This rate of return is considered exceptionally good by the summary and indicates to those making the survey a great interest in and concern for education by these graduates.

According to the summary of the survey, "considerably less than half of the graduates from many of the corporations indicated that their high school experiences prepared them for their present positions."

"All the groups who were surveyed apparently recognize additional vocational-technical educational opportunities as a need for the involved communities," reads the summary.

NOTICE

The called meeting of the Putnam County Retired Teacher's Association will be held at the Northeast Elementary School on Monday, Oct. 8 at 1 p.m. All retired teachers please note and attend.

Suggestions by the parents and graduates who responded which should be implemented into the program should one be started included the following: "any attempts at additional vocational-technical education should be practice-oriented and include on-the-job experiences."

"Programs (should) utilize community resources and existing facilities as alternatives to an area school...A placement service should be a part of a career training program...Some vocational preparation (should) be made available prior to grades eleven and twelve."

To summarize the responses of both the parents and students, the survey summary stated that "substantial segments of the student bodies (appear to be) ill-informed concerning the variety of available careers, the training requirements for careers, and they do not hold realistic career goals by the time they graduate from high school."

Roadie Tests Truckers' Skills

Once every year some of the nation's top professional truck drivers get together and compete for honors and prizes in The National Truck Roadie, a contest of knowledge, safety and driving skills.

To be eligible to enter the Roadie, drivers must have a perfect driving record for at least one full calendar year prior to the event.

All competition at a National Roadie is based on the knowledge and skill required of professional drivers in their daily work.

Contestants first undergo oral and written examinations designed to evaluate their knowledge of safe driving rules and regulations, the trucking industry, first aid and fire fighting.

The drivers then inspect a vehicle with built-in defects, just as they would ordinarily check some 79 items on their own vehicles such as tires and lights. The drivers are judged not only on their ability to locate the defects, but also on the efficiency of their inspection.

Driving over an obstacle course and maneuvering the vehicles through prescribed situations is the highlight of the Roadie. Contesters driving semi trailers must be able to park their 40-foot rig in a 44-foot space, deftly placing the huge vehicle no more than six inches from the curb.

Duplicating the feat of holding his vehicle to a pencil-straight line on the pavement drivers must guide their trucks through a double row of small rubber balls, balanced on tees, with a two-inch clearance on either side of his wheels.

Judges for the event are traffic and safety experts from the trucking and insurance industries, Interstate Commerce Commission, U.S. Department of Transportation and various state police forces and highway departments.

Winners of the event receive trophies and cash prizes, not to mention the prestige of being tops in their field.

As a result of this investigation, seven basic areas of need were identified:

An improved base for administrative and curricular decision making is desirable.

It is desirable to minimize the present duplications of programs between districts.

Expanded vocational-technical educational opportunities are needed in the eight county area.

Any expanded vocational-technical offerings should be part of a flexible program which can be immediately responsive to community and student needs and area employment opportunities.

Students must be provided a sound base from which to make well-informed educational and vocational decisions.

Community support and understanding is essential to the success of any expanded vocational-technical education for the tax dollar spent.

Basic recommendations made by Gannon will be given and explained in the next article of this series which will appear in tomorrow's edition.

DEAR ABBY: My lady friend is a kissing fool. Hugging and kissing is her idea of the utmost in ecstasy, and she can't seem to get enough of it.

Last night we sat on her sofa kissing from midnight until 2 a. m., and I hardly managed to get my own lips together once in those two hours. If my nose had been stopped up, I would have suffocated. All this time she was glued to my face, wearing me out.

I tried to explain that a normal man enjoys about five minutes of kissing, but I never got to finish the sentence. It's not as if we are a pair of starry-eyed teen-agers, either. We are up in years.

Is there such a thing as a lip fetish? If so, this lady has a serious case. She doesn't need a man. Give her a pair of rubber lips nailed to a post and she would be in business.

Do you think she needs psychiatric help to cool her down? Or should I seek some myself for continuing to put up with her?

DONE IN

DEAR DONE: If you want to cool her down, marry her.

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of giving an unwed mother a baby shower? The girl is only 15, and the baby's father is 16. She is five months along, and her girl friends are giving her a shower. Maybe by the time the baby is born she will be married to the baby's father, but right now his folks have refused to sign, and he can't get married without their signatures, as he is under age.

I bought a gift with money I saved up from baby-sitting. My mother says I can go if I want to, but it would be like saying I saw nothing wrong with what this girl did. Abby, I think she did a wrong thing, but she is my friend and I can't turn my back on her now.

Some of the girls' mothers told their daughters they should send their gifts, but not go. How do you feel about this?

ALSO 15

DEAR ALSO: Being loyal to a friend doesn't necessarily imply approval of everything that friend does. Your peer group is showing more charity and compassion for an unmarried expectant mother than earlier generations would have shown, which I think is to your credit.

DEAR ABBY: For the last six months my husband faithfully has gotten up at 1 a. m. every Saturday morning to go Eastern Shore fishing.

I never paid much attention to it until recently when I noticed that when he came home he was wearing his best shoes, best pants, and brand new shirt.

When I asked him about it, he said he had to look decent in case he wanted to stop in a restaurant for coffee and a sandwich. Abby, I would like your reaction to his explanation.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: His story sounds fishy to me. Fishing clothes are considered "decent" in fishing territory. But on the other hand, if he had something to hide he could easily change back into his fishing clothes before returning home. [P.S. How much fish does he bring home? If it's usually not much of a catch, you may catch him.]

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a business associate who is also a friend, and he always greets me with a big hug and kiss even tho I don't do anything to encourage him.

My husband doesn't like it and thinks I could do more to control the situation.

I don't want to make a big deal out of it, but I really don't know how I can keep this man away from me without insulting him. Maybe I am too timid, but I can't just tell anybody off. Is there another way?

TIMID

DEAR TIMID: You don't have to tell him off. Greet him with an outstretched HAND [for shaking] instead of open arms for hugging and kissing.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Opening lead - four of clubs.

There are not many hands where a play is truly difficult. Usually, when a play is overlooked, it is because the play is contrary to normal procedure.

Consider this deal where West led a club and declarer won East's jack with the queen. Spades were obviously the suit to attack, so South led the jack and finessed, losing to the queen.

Back came a club and South was in trouble. He permitted

West's nine to win, but West played another club, forcing out the ace, and soon got in with the ace of spades to put the contract down one.

Actually, South should have made the hand. He should have allowed East to win the opening club lead with the jack. Had he ducked, he would have finished with ten tricks.

East could then do no better than return a club and South's Q-10 would have trapped West's king. Assuming that West covered the queen, declarer would win with the ace, play a diamond to the king, and finesse the jack of spades. East would take the queen but would be helpless. Whatever he returned, declarer would dislodge the ace of spades and score the rest of the tricks.

There is a sound basis for ducking the jack of clubs. West is marked with the king by East's failure to play it at trick one, and the retention of the Q-10 maintains two solid tricks for South. The advantage of refusing the jack is that it cuts communication between the defenders in clubs in case the suit is divided 5-2.

If the clubs are divided 4-3, the contract is equally secure, for at most the defense will score two spades and two clubs. To duck is therefore perfectly sound - even though it is unusual.

Changes Noted In Medicare Program

Sidney Kats stepped on a scale, recorded his weight, stuck a thermometer in his mouth, sat down, and extended an arm to his wife.

His wife took his blood pressure and, when the vital statistics were recorded, proceeded to insert two "sticks" into Sid's arm. The "sticks" are needles about 1 1/4 inches long attached to tubes that carry blood to and from a hemodialysis machine—also known as an artificial kidney—or a kidney machine.

Sid's own kidneys were removed several years ago. To continue to function, he has to rid his body of waste products by undergoing dialysis treatments twice a week. The machine removes the impurities from the blood as it passes thru the machine.

Sid, who is 48, is one of about 7,500 individuals with kidney disease who may be eligible for Medicare benefits.

Most of you reading this will also qualify for Medicare coverage if you are similarly afflicted.

This all came about by a change in the Medicare program that was enacted into law last year. It provided that persons suffering from chronic kidney disease would be entitled to Medicare effective July 1973.

To be eligible, you must require hemodialysis or a kidney transplant, be under 65 (if you're over 65 you're already eligible for Medicare)—be insured, that is, have worked long enough under social security or be the spouse or dependent child of such an individual. In short, this means that most of you who are now working and your families as well, now have this protection. You don't have to be 56.

Coverage starts three months after the month dialysis begins and continues thru the twelfth month after either a successful transplant occurs or dialysis ends.

If you think you can qualify, you should call your nearest social security office.

Not many individuals can afford the costs of dialysis or of a kidney transplant without financial aid from some source.

Yearly dialysis expenses range from between $20,000 and $30,000 in a hospital, between $12,000 and $20,000 in a limited care facility, and $5,000 to $10,000 in the home. A transplant also is an expensive undertaking with costs averaging between $10,000 and $15,000.

It is anticipated that with more people able to afford treatment as a result of Medicare coverage, more facilities and equipment will be made available.

Without dialysis or a transplant, those with irreversible kidney disease cannot live. With one or the other form of treatment, many can lead active, productive lives. But without help in financing the treatment, many could never come out from under the medical debts and others would not be given the opportunity to try—that is they would not be offered the treatment.

This Federal help will give new hope of living normal lives to kidney patients. It will not leave them to their own meager resources or to those of their community to cope with the financial costs.

Yes, this will be added cost to the Medicare program, but as the sponsors of the legislation argued, the cost "is minor when compared to the rewards which society will reap from people who can return to the workforce rather than wither and die."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Rev. Timothy challenges all Senior Citizens, so discuss his ideas tomorrow in Sunday School! And if you wish to live long on this Earth, you better team-up with the Almighty, for God has created rust, corrosion and decay to punish idleness!

CASE Y-536: Timothy W. is a 70-year-old clergyman.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I know many preachers who look forward to the time they can retire at 65 to 68 years of age. But I always felt that a man should justify his being kept alive by thus continuing to produce constructive service."

"Why should God let people live if they are figuratively 'spongers' on the productivity of other working people?"

"Dr. Crane, do you think the Almighty expects us merely to sit and consume groceries after the age of 65?"

"Frankly, I'd be afraid to do so, lest the Lord decide to snuff out my life as a part of his efficiency plan for this planet Earth."

TIMOTHY'S MOTTO

Timothy's motto is well expressed in an old church hymn that says:

"Work, For the Night is Coming When Man Works No More."

So Rev. Timothy has been filling dozens of pulpits as guest preacher.

And often doing a better job than the local pastor! For these older clergymen have amassed a vast amount of experience with which to document their sermons.

If they thus employ Christ's narrative (parable) formula, they can keep the audience alert and fascinated far more than by the dry, expository sermons many younger clergymen inflict on their parishioners.

But Rev. Timothy raises a good point that you Senior Citizens could profitably discuss at Sunday School.

Do you think Jesus would have retired to an inactive role, if he had lived to the age of 65?

God laid down a universal law of nature that inaction leads to rust, decay, corrosion, plus arthritis and premature death!

Even your muscles grow weak and shrink in size if you don't exercise as much today as you did yesterday!

Since your heart is solid muscle, by sitting in an easy chair to watch TV, you merely let your heart grow actually smaller and thus weaker!

In medicine, we have a rule of thumb that says if you lie abed for one whole day, it will take one week for your muscles to regain their former strength.

And one week abed may require 30 days of activity to revive those weakened muscles!

So when you shift from your factory or office job (if you are forced to retire) keep in gear and continue doing something constructive.

Why, if I weren't working 6 days per week and 52 weeks in the year, I'd be engaged in many productive hobbies.

For example, it may seem farfetched but I am vitally interested in cancer research and have made that my unofficial hobby for 35 years.

But another one that has worldwide helpful implications is the grafting of twigs to produce delicious fruit or nuts on scrubby trees that are now relatively useless.

Moreover, of some 300,000 botanical species of vegetation on this earth, I once read that only 6,000 (2 percent) had been analyzed.

What might those other 294,000 (98 percent) hold in the way of medicines, edible fruits or grains, herbs and tubers?

Sunday School teaching, work as precinct volunteers in politics, and sponsoring a "League of the Golden Pen" should also excite any idle older!

So send for my booklet "The Compliment Club," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Center Seeks to End Neglect Of Pre-School Age Children

By TOM SIEBERT
Associated Press Writer
DENVER (AP) — Society should force parents to care for their children properly before the age of 6, just as it now forces them to send youngsters to school from then on, says one expert battling the soaring incidence of child neglect. Children have a right to good medical care even though they cannot select it themselves because of dependence on parents, said Dr. C. Henry Kempe of the National Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect. "In our country the child is essentially a prisoner in his home until he reaches school age," while totalitarian societies compel supervision and regard the child as belonging to the state while in temporary care of his parents. Until about 100 years ago, he said, parents literally had life and death rights over their offspring and could dispose of them at will. Now it is becoming accepted that the child belongs to himself. Pediatricians, psychologists and social workers who encounter the most severe child abuse cases say much more should be done in the United States to prevent the kind of neglect that leads to physical abuse, as well as to continue upgrading of detection and treatment. Kempe recommends establishment of "crisis nurseries," where children can be taken at any time for a few hours or a few days when stress threatens the family, and more extensive day care centers. Termites attack seven out of 10 homes in the southern states, five out of 10 in the Midwest and two out of 10 in the North.

Greencastle Racketeers Return

After two days of competing in the sectionals at Terre Haute, Greencastle's tennis team came home yesterday after accumulating 12 points.

The racketeers started out strong in the first round when Todd Wagoner won his match 7-6, 3-6, 6-3. The combinations of T.J. Black and Scott Kissinger and Steve Shinn and Bob Phillips also won in the first round.

"We thought we could go on after our first round victories," Coach Gerald York said, "but we just met real tough competition in the second round and lost."

Blair MacPhail, who was seeded second, drew a bye in the first round and won the second round Wednesday, defeating his Bloomington South opponent, 6-1, 6-2.

MacPhail's win gave him the right to return yesterday to play a Crawfordsville player. He lost the opening set 6-7, but returned to win the second 7-6, only to lose the third 6-3.

"We came into the meet well respected," York said, "and I don't think we left with any changes of opinion. The boys all played exceptionally well, but they just met stiffer competition from the bigger schools."

Rain Washes Out Reds As NL Playoffs Start

CINCINNATI (AP) — Heavy rains washed out a scheduled Cincinnati Reds practice Thursday, leaving the defending National League champs in a combative mood as they awaited the New York Mets and the league playoffs.

"Let's get it on," roared little Joe Morgan. "I'm tired of everybody asking us how we feel about facing the Mets. I think people ought to ask the Mets how they feel about playing us. We're the team that won 99 games."

"We ain't scared of nobody," added Morgan, testily.

The National League playoffs, a best-of-5 affair between the Western Division champion Reds and the Eastern Division winning Mets, open Saturday at 4 p.m.

A pair of 19-game winners, Jack Billingham of the Reds and Tom Seaver of the Mets, will be opposing pitchers.

Cincinnati captain Pete Rose fanned the embers as Morgan fumed during the late afternoon shower.

"They've got the momentum is what I hear," said Rose, mostly for the benefit of Morgan's ears.

"That's all I've been hearing lately," said Morgan. "Let's get it on and then we'll see."

Rose, noting that the Mets weren't happy with their scheduled practice time at Riverfront Stadium today, offered a sarcastic suggestion.

"If they've got so much momentum, they don't need the practice," needed Rose.

Asked for a prediction on the outcome of the playoffs, Rose responded with a growl.

"I'm not Jean Dixon. I don't predict things — I just make things happen," said the Reds leftfielder who has assured himself of a third National League batting title with a .338.

The Reds, who fashioned baseball's best record — 99-63 — with a remarkable closing rush that produced 60 victories in the last 86 games, defeated the Mets in eight of 12 meetings.

New York, like Cincinnati, had to come from an 11-game deficit to claim its division title. Hobbled by injuries much of the way, the Mets surged back by winning 24 of their last 34 games.

Their 82-79 record — lowest total ever by a division champ — left the Reds' Tony Perez unimpressed.

"If we get moved to that division next year, it will be no contest," said Perez, who completed his best season with a .312 batting average and 101 runs batted in.

Perez led the Reds' regulars with a .310 batting average against the Mets.

Billingham, with a 1.08 earned run average in three starts against New York, was 2-0. Seaver is 0-2 against the Reds.

The Mets arrived late Thursday night and were scheduled to practice from 5 to 7 p.m.

The threat of showers diminished today. The forecast for Saturday promised sunny weather, according to the Weather Bureau.

Despite losing in the sectionals the team ended up with a well respected 8-1 record, and a lot of optimism for next year.

Owners Discuss

Padres Transfer

CINCINNATI (AP) — If things go the way Joseph Danzansky wants, the San Diego Padres will begin the 1974 National League baseball season in the nation's capital.

Danzansky, president of a food chain, and two partners have purchased the Padres from C. Arnold Smith for $12 million but needs the approval of the National League club owners to transfer the team to Washington.

The owners met here today to vote on the sale and the transfer of the Padres.

Nine of the 12 owners must give an affirmative vote to permit the transfer. Reports indicate that only Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs and Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers are opposed.

Greencastle scored once in the third quarter and twice in fourth to rout visiting West Vigo 17-0 in Western Indiana conference competition last night.

After a scoreless first half in which both teams threatened but could not cross the magic line, the Tiger Cubs came out in the second half, and wasted little time in scoring.

Stacy Spencer dashed 20 yards with 7:37 left in the third quarter to set the adrenalin running for Greencastle. Harry Morrison added his first extra point for the evening.

After a drive which started on their 47 yard line, Kim Jones sneaked over the one for the final touchdown of the encounter. The drive took nine plays and three first downs before the Tiger Cubs could put it away. Morrison added his final extra point.

And finally, with a little less than three minutes remaining in the game a cheer went up when Morrison trotted onto the field with his field goal kicking tee in hand.

Morrison gave the ball a boot and sent it sailing 21 yards through the uprights for his second field goal of the year.

The big plays in the first half for the Tiger Cubs gave them the incentive to come bold strong in the final half.

John Hughes picked off a pass in the end zone to thwart a Viking attempt. Another threat came with a little less than one minute remaining in the half, and the visitors and the Cubs on one. The Greencastle defense held strong and the half ended with the "homesters" in possession.

With the victory, Greencastle boosted its overall record to 6-0. They are 3-0 in the conference. West Vigo dropped to 3-3 overall and 3-2 in the conference.

Cougars Win First

North Putnam ran away with the ballgame last night to tuck away their first victory of the season at the expense of South Putnam, 46-3.

Craig Sibbitt, making his first start since being injured in the first game, connected on a 14-yard field goal attempt in the third quarter to notch the Eagle's only score.

It was 40-0 at the end of the first half until South Putnam put it together to hold the Dad's Day visitors to one touchdown in the final half.

The Cougar's record now stands at 1-5, while the Eagles dropped their sixth.

South Putnam travels to Owen Valley next week while the Cougars play host to Covington.

Clovers Clipped

Edgewood spoiled Cloverdale's homecoming, defeating the Clovers, 35-6.

Now 4-0 in conference play, Edgewood jumped to a 14 point first quarter advantage on touchdown runs of 20 and one yards by Les Freeman.

Ronnie Gibson scored Cloverdale's only touchdown on a one yard rush in the first quarter. Edgewood blocked the kick for the extra point, and Cloverdale trailed at the end of the first period, 14-6.

Edgewood put the game out of reach with a touchdown in each remaining quarter.

Rob Graebe scored on a one yard plunge in the second period, and P.A.T. gave Edgewood a 21-6 halftime lead.

Les Freeman added his third score on a twelve yard run for Edgewood's third quarter touchdown. The visitor's final touchdown came on a two yard run by Kim Narey.

Cloverdale takes its 1-5 record to Indian Creek next Friday.

County's Cross Country

Greencastle Harriers Win

Coming off from a week's lull in their scheduling, Greencastle's cross country team placed five runners in the top-ten positions and defeated Edgewood, 23-32, last night at Windy Hill Country Club.

Jay Franklin, Greencastle's senior ace runner, further improved his time when he finished with a time of 14:15.

Despite the scheduling lay-off Coach Kevin Vana worked them hard all week to keep them in condition, not only for this meet, but more importantly, the conference meet Tuesday.

"We needed all sorts of conditioning for the big conference meet next week," Vana said following the win.

The meet will be at a golf course at Clinton, and the coach is very optimistic concerning the outcome.

"I think our boys will put on an impressive race" Vana said.

Franklin even though concerned about the upcoming conference meet, may be looking forward a little more to the county meet to be held next Saturday at the Windy Hill course.

At one point during the season he has beaten all three of his rivals for that number one position. He's beaten Eddie Thornburg, North Putnam's ace, Jack Galloway, Cloverdale's number one man, and Jay Puckett, South Putnam's top runner.

Unitas Will Finally Do Battle In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers turned him aside 18 years ago, but John Unitas got poetic justice. He became a star for the Baltimore Colts.

But since that time, Unitas has never played against the Steelers in Pittsburgh, and only twice has he faced them.

When the Colts played here in 1968, he was sidelined with an injury and Earl Morrall was the quarterback.

However, Unitas will be the quarterback for San Diego when the Chargers meet the Steelers here Sunday.

Pittsburgh drafted Unitas in the ninth round in 1955, but then Steeler Coach Walt Kiesling decided to go with veteran

Jim Finks, backup Ted Marchibroda and rookie Vic Eaton, also a defensive back, as his three quarterbacks.

Unitas was released before the regular season began and failed to catch on with another National Football League team that year.

In 1955, he played sandlot football with the Bloomfield Rams, and the Colts signed him in 1956.

The rest is well-known history.

Unitas, now 40, was traded to the Chargers after last season, and just last week went over the 40,000-yard mark in passing yardage.

Though his brilliance may be gone, Steeler Coach Chuck Noll says he's still an excellent quarterback.

"Same old John," said Noll, a former defensive coach with the Colts when Unitas was with Baltimore. "Still throws them in there."

"He sets you up with the short pass, then the long—mixes them well. And he uses every tool available."

Thus far, the Chargers, 1-2, have had fewer tools on the offensive line than Unitas apparently needs. He's been sacked 13 times in three games.

Meanwhile, after committing a league-high 48 turnovers last year, the Chargers have 12 this far this year.

Despite throwing under duress, Unitas has completed 47 per cent of his passes and has thrown three for touchdowns.

However, last week, Gary Garrison, Unitas' favorite receiver, dislocated his shoulder and will not play against the Steelers.

Pittsburgh, 3-0, and the only undefeated team in the American Football Conference, has given up just 23 points in three games and only two touchdowns, both on passes. Steeler opponents are averaging a meager 85 yards rushing a game, an average of 2.8 yards per carry.

ABA Cougars Rout Pacers, McGinnis Scores 35 Points

ANDERSON Ind. (AP)—A balanced Carolina attack, led by Jim Chones' 27 points, took the Cougars to a 143-112 victory over the host Indiana Pacers in an American Basketball Association exhibition game Thursday night.

The Cougars blew the game open in the second period, raising their exhibition record to 6-3, while handing the Pacers their eighth straight loss in as many pre-season games. Pacer George McGinnis led all scorers with 35 points while Mel Daniels dropped in 24.

Building Products

again the single most important factor behind the profit surge was the housing boom. "Although the housing starts peaked in the first quarter, residential construction put-in-place and materials demand remained very strong through the Spring months." Christie said that the first signs of the slow-down of building products are now beginning to show. "Plywood prices which went soaring in the face of strong demand, are now reversing direction."

According to the Dodge economist, the past year has shown a strong cyclical recovery by the non-residential sector. "This recovery, paced by industrial and commercial building, has been especially beneficial to producers whose output is not used in home building and were bypassed by the housing boom." Christie said that while construction market gains were certainly the key to the profits picture, "the blistering pace of general economic growth has also played a supporting role by further increasing the sales of building materials manufacturers which also produce for other markets.

"The metal-producing firms and the glass manufacturers found strong demand for their output coming not only from construction" he pointed out, "but also this year's record level of automobile production. The same holds true for forest product producers, who have enjoyed a demand for paper and other wood pulp products nearly as strong as the record demand for lumber and plywood," said Christie.

"He Loved Not Wisely But Too Well"

A Meditation by the Rev. Allan Harlan,

Rector of St. Andrew's Church

Nearly submerged in the tranquil depths of the New York Sunday Times was the following arresting item from the Canadian Press: "Newfoundland moose are being mistakenly and fatally attracted to the call of the Diesel train in the Woody Port Blanford-Gambo area. Thirty romantic moose have collided with trains since May and wildlife authorities believe the lonesome whistle is being mistaken for a love call. They say the Newfoundland Diesels may have to change their note if the toll continues."

On the day that this profoundly sad, profoundly funny report was published, the headlines reported the usual number of loves and deaths, or collisions and loud sounds, in the world of the higher fauna. But it is the Canadian moose whose unrequited loves explain the larger tragedies of our time. Uncomplicated by the improvements with which civilization has confused Romance, his story can be simply told: he loved not wisely but too well, and was run over.

We take this to be a parable for the age of automation. Powerful mechanisms of deceptive speed utter to the world alluring notes, and our hearts are filled with love; we leap to respond, and rush to a fatal interview with a swift and heartless monster. Or is this but the translation into a new form of the substance of an absolute truth?

In an ancient legend the sirens lured the traveller with a sound mistaken for a call of love, and those who heeded it went to destruction. The test of life, man or moose, would seem to be to learn how to avoid being mistakenly and fatally attracted to the call of the Diesel train, or to the erroneous love of anything that is in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the water under the earth; thou shalt not bow down to them, nor worship them, nor run to them in amorous ignorance. It is not the sound of fury that is dangerous, it is the sound of love that can destroy us. This is the first and great commandment in reverse; let us hope that the world soon learns to love with all its mind.

Disaster Drill Pays Off As Twister Hits Facility

"God help us, a tornado!"

The unmistakable clackety-clack-whoosh-whoosh freight train roar of an approaching twister grew louder and louder inside the Hallmark Villa Nursing Home in Frederick, Oklahoma.

"The funnel roared like a million trains coming through," Mrs. Wayne Bergman, witness to the nursing home's destruction, recalled later.

Mrs. Georgia Balentine, who made it to a storm cellar, said, "We couldn't even hear when it hit. Our ears were vacuumed. We couldn't hear anything for about 45 seconds."

It was nearing 7:00 p.m. the night of June 18. A fierce summer storm had been raging for two hours in southwest Oklahoma's famous "tornado alley." Hail the size of golf balls threatened to cave in the roof.

Elderly patients in Hallmark Villa Nursing Home who were ambulatory had their faces pressed against the windows, peering fearfully into the storm's teeth. Four employees on night duty were also carefully watching the storm, at the same time striving to recall details of the tornado training they had received some months earlier following a statewide seminar held by the Oklahoma State Nursing Home Association.

The Oklahoma Association and its members are members of the American Nursing Home Association which encourages in-service training through its educational and Volunteer and Activity Service Corps programs.

"Away from the windows," ordered licensed practical nurse Trula Woods, "it's coming down! Patients into the hallway, cover 'em quick!"

Nurse Woods and aides Louise Adams, Mildred Acree and Olivia Toney went to work. They put into practical application, while scared to death themselves, what they had learned as a result of the Oklahoma State Nursing Home Association's seminar on tornado protection. It had been attended by their administrator, Hagel Branch, and assistant administrator, Ruby Holloway.

"We could see it out the window several minutes away," said nurse's aide Mrs. Louise Adams. "It was black smoke with all kinds of stuff in it."

"It was down on the ground, whirling around. Then it took a beeline and came straight at us."

"All at once there was no top over us. Everything was falling down on the patients. It's nothing but God that all of us weren't killed."

Oklahoma Nursing Home Association president Bob Barnard of Okmulgee, Oklahoma, who was on the scene at Frederick bright and early next morning with Gary Reed, Ada, Oklahoma, another nursing home operator, figures God had some help. Mrs. Patricia Poynter, OSNHA Executive Director, who visited the scene agreed.

"The first rule of life is not self protection," says Barnard. "I learned at Frederick, after seeing the miracle wrought by that nurse and three nurse's aides, that the first law of life with some people is duty."

"The nursing home was demolished. Almost every patient was hurt to some extent. Some of these people were in their 90's. Yet not one fatality occurred, because these nursing home employees put duty first and knew what to do in this extreme emergency."

As pictures accompanying this article show, there was virtually nothing left of Hallmark Villa Nursing Home after the tornado finished sucking it up into the air. Yet not one death occurred among these 53 old people, many of whom were seriously ill.

How was the miracle performed? "I'll tell you this much," says Gary Reed, "it couldn't have happened if these nursing home workers had given one thought to their own safety."

"Smartest thing they did was wheel, drag and push as many residents as possible into the main hallway, where the greatest protection was afforded against the storm."

"They put mattresses over some patients. As the tornado was pulling the roof off and blowing away all sides of the building, they pushed unprotected patients under beds and tables, into bathtubs, anywhere a protective covering could be found."

First reports out of Frederick following the tornado was "nine missing and four dead at Hallmark Villa Nursing Home."

This report of several deaths was broadcast statewide on radio-TV. Those first on the scene, looking at the nursing home devastation, no doubt sincerely believed many of the patients had indeed been killed. Yet when the stunned, cut and bruised were hospitalized and treated, about 40 of them, it was discovered that the most serious injury was a broken leg suffered by a 90 year old patient struck by whirling debris.

It was also discovered that the four courageous women employees of Hallmark Villa Nursing Home had a goodly number of cuts and bruises of their own. Small wonder.

"I was pushing a wheel chair when it hit," explained nurse's aide Olivia Toney. "It turned me completely around."

"The ceiling flew away and the walls just fell in. I found one patient with a piece of tile stuck in her back. I wasn't strong enough to pull it out."

"Most of the patients were bed-ridden and we had a terrible struggle getting them into the hall," Mrs. Toney concluded.

"We had trouble getting some residents away from the windows," added Mrs. Adams. "They appeared hypnotized by the tornado."

All nurses said the home was demolished in one swoop.

"It was completely torn down in one staggering flash," declared nurse's aide Mildred Acree. "We had to instantly start digging the elderly out of the rubble and do what

He was excited and nervous when he carried the frail lady from the nursing home devastation. She placed her hand in his and, in a calm, clear voice, got him to join her in reciting the Lord's Prayer.

One of the worst tornadoes on record for sheer velocity, Dep. Sheriff Matthews said he spotted one tornado at first. "Right after that, two other funnels formed and seemed to merge just as they struck the nursing home."

we could for their bruises and cuts."

Oklahoma is famous for tornadoes, but this was one of the worst on record for sheer velocity, a double-decker. The storm cut a swath three blocks wide.

Deputy sheriff George Matthews said he first spotted one tornado dropping out of the turbulent skies northwest of Frederick.

"Right after that," Matthews recalls, "two other funnels formed and hit. They came in from the southwest and seemed to merge just as they struck the nursing home."

Oklahoma State Nursing Home President Bob Barnard and Gary Reed were joined at Frederick the day following the tornado by Oklahoma Governor David Hall and Howard Miles, chief of the Health Facilities Division, State Health Department.

The Oklahoma office of Civil Defense estimated total damage at $2.5-million. Governor Hall wired President Nixon for emergency disaster aid.

"There is no doubt," said Governor Hall, "that many lives were saved here because the people on duty at the nursing home were both courageous and competent. They put a planned disaster plan into effect and it worked beyond anyone's belief."

"The Oklahoma State Nursing Home Association is to be commended for holding a tornado

Many people today believe that the way to eternal salvation is of little relevance. The greatest possible mistake on the part of man is to believe that God does not care about incidents of His revealed plan for man's salvation. God has not made certain requirements of man merely as an idle gesture, but requires obedience to all His requirements, HEBREWS 5:8,9. To believe that FAITH is unnecessary to man's salvation is folly but to deny that REPENTANCE, CONFESSION, and BAPTISM by immersion is unnecessary is further folly.

The man who seeks salvation must meet the requirements of God's law. God has provided grace for mankind but mankind's salvation depends upon his obedience to all commands thereby becoming a beneficiary of God's Grace. Man cannot be saved by refusing to recognize that he has certain responsibilities inherent in his salvation, ACTS 2:40. Yes, friends, God has done His part in providing opportunity for our salvation, but in order for us to be saved we must become recipients of His Grace through obedience, not through faith alone, JAMES 2:24.

The preacher and all the members of the Church of Christ which meets at 637 E. Washington Street are prepared to assist you in further study about this great salvation, feel free to call 653-4021 for assistance, anytime.
